WAUBUNETTE

Responsible for the popularity of our school paper, THE WAUBUNETTE, are the reporters, artists, typists, and the business and the production staffs. An editorial board consisting of Marcia Meengs, Beverly Veleke, and Ross Westhuis, worked with editor Charlotte Greene to bring features, news, and sports to the students every two weeks. Business manager Gaye Longua headed the business and production staff that produced and distributed the paper. New features the past year included "Here's the Latest," "Class Room High Lights and Side Lights," and the "Waubunette Showcase."

FEATURES

SAYONARA

1958 PROM

Cherry blossoms, a teahouse throne, Lamar Foth's band playing in a cherry grove (converted from one used stage), pastel murals accented by oriental line drawings, fortune cookies and punch served from a knee-high table--this was SAYONARA, our 1958 Junior Prom. May 8 was the date, and Virginia VandeBerg and Louis Olson were royalty for the evening. The theme was carried out, too, at the hotel and the country club where the local service clubs sponsored a post-prom party. It was with heavy hearts that we had to say, "Sayonara."

KING LOUIS and QUEEN VIRGINIA

THE COURT: N. Crowe, R. Harper, M. Leu, D. Stellmacher, C. Olson, L. Olson, V. Vande Berg, J. Gysbers, A. Loomans, C. Cotter, J. Keepers, M. Neevel.

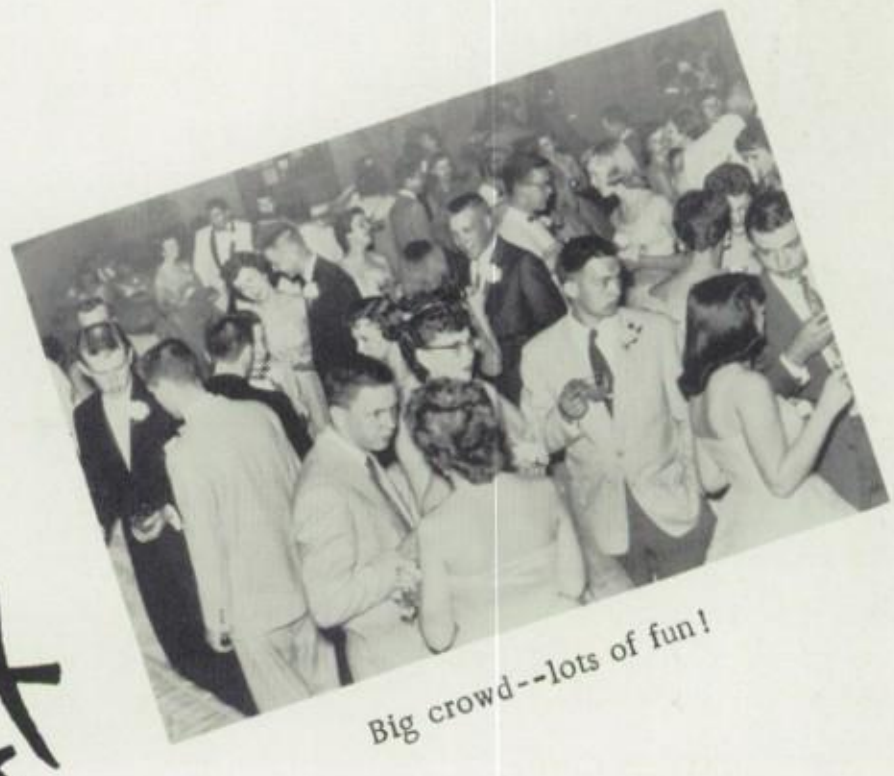
Trees are made, not grown.

Raising the roof!

The court leads the grand march.

Down the center by fours.

"I crown thee queen...."



Big crowd--lots of fun!

KING JERRY STAEHLING

Our 1958 Homecoming was aptly titled Autumn Leaves. Brightly colored foliage hung from the ceiling, lay in piles among bushel baskets and even encrusted the refreshment table's cider barrel, as

Our spirits flamed high.

Autumn leaves danced with us.

HOMECOMING

QUEEN MARCIA MEENGS

October 3 brought us under the reign of King Jerry and Queen Marcia. The loss of the game was dimmed by the splendor of the bonfire, the skits and the dance.

THE COURT

STANDING: A. Loomans, T. Kaminski, A. Tenpas, N. Aalsma. SITTING: B. Bruins, S. Stevenson, C. Cotter, N. Allen.

The Marsh-Dragon, senior's skit.

Sadie Hawkins

Pigtails, straw hats, short-shorts, and overalls announced to any uninformed that a Sadie Hawkins dance was in progress in the gym the night of November 14.

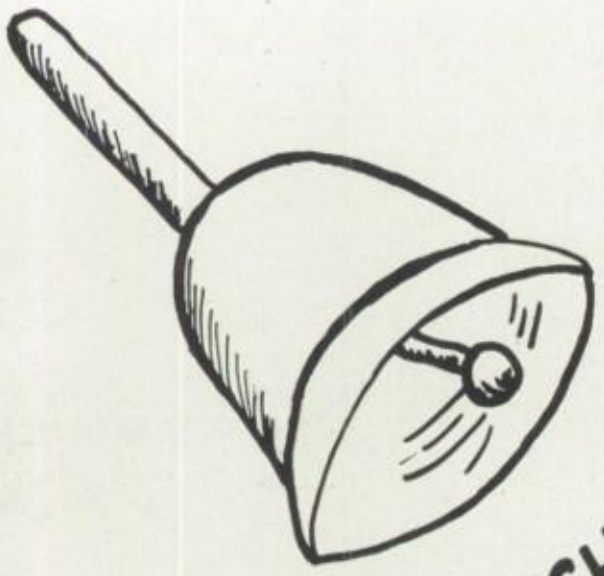
The girls who had run fast enough to catch a man were linked to their victims in a mock ceremony performed by Lynn Strub, the "marryin' Sam" of the event. Marno Leu and Du Wayne Stellmacher came as Ma and Pa Yokum. Mr. Peters played the piano for group singing.

Little Abner (Norman Aalsma) and Daisy Mae (Nancy Allen).

The Dogpatchers sit around the piano to sing.

The Yokum's neighbors play a game.

Prize-winning costumes draw a round of applause.



JUNIOR HIGH ACTIVITIES

This year the Junior-Hi's found more variety in the school year. Each semester they have had a six-week unit with a teacher in the field of health, of art, and of music.

Lower left, a class examines a model of a heart. Below, an art class studies three-dimensional design by making toothpick constructions.

The music group is testing its proficiency with the tonette.

J.A.A. Advisor Mrs. Moroni

J.A.A. started the year with an initiation party for new members. The girls enjoyed an ice-skating party and impromptu games. Meetings recessed during the winter when the wrestling program took over the meeting place. But spring found the members engaged in a program of basketball, volleyball, and softball. They ended the season by sponsoring a Junior High party.

Has your motor lost its pep and power?

Gums on valve stems rob your motor of compression.

Let us "tune-up" your motor and bring back its surge of power by adding Shaler-Rislone to the regular oil in the crankcase. This remarkable Oil Alloy actually dissolves gums as you drive . . . Frees the valves . . Restores compression. Shaler-Rislone "tunes-up" all engines. Drive in to-day.
